

Get up to $400 cashback*

When you chill out in front of a PeakSmart aircon.

It pays to be smart when you're buying a new air conditioner.

PeakSmart is a new way to reward eligible households and businesses that help reduce electricity usage during peak periods.

With PeakSmart, a device (signal receiver) is fitted to your air conditioner during the installation, or can be retrofitted later. This device may be activated on a few days each year during periods of high demand on the network. When activated, your air conditioner's energy consumption will be capped for a short period of time, similar to economy mode. The best part is you won't have to do anything and won't notice a difference to your comfort levels.

You can get up to $400 cashback when you install a PeakSmart air conditioner OR convert your existing air conditioner to PeakSmart.
